SEPTEMBER 9, 2018 – TWENTY-THIRD SUNDAY IN ORDINARY TIME

“Ephphatha!” - “Be opened!”

During today's first reading we read:

He comes to save you. Then will the eyes of the blind be opened, the ears of the deaf be cleared;

We see this is fulfilled in the Gospel. We might ask so what is the big deal? But if we dig down deeply we have an important message there.

The healing process Jesus uses is almost like a ritual and, in fact, it was. Jesus puts his fingers in the man's ear and puts spittle on his tongue. (Spittle was believed to have healing properties and today we know this is actually true.) At the same time Jesus looked heavenward – to his Father – and said, in Aramaic, "Be opened". Immediately the man was healed:

The way Jesus heals the man reminds us of the Sacrament of Baptism. Through the gift of faith which precedes adult Baptism, our ears are opened to hear the Word of God and our tongues are loosened to speak about Christ to others. Baptism is a sign of our full incorporation into the Body of Christ, Church. It involves a total commitment on our part to the way of life that Jesus calls us to follow. Part of that commitment is a growing openness to hear what Jesus says to us and a growing ability to be able to share our faith with others. Are we doing this?

If we are honest, many of us are not very good at either listening or speaking, where God is concerned. Some have even stopped hearing. Most of us do not realise that we have become deaf! And, being deaf, we cannot speak either. We have nothing to say, nothing to share. Others, though, are good at listening. They want to know more about the meaning of Jesus and his Gospel in the changing circumstances of their lives. But they, too, though good at hearing may do very little speaking, very little sharing. That is contradictory to what the Gospel says. In the Gospel, really to hear the Word of God is to carry it out. "Hearing" implies: listening, understanding, making the message one's own and living it out in word and action.

Part of the problem is that for a long time we see our religion as something personal between ourselves and God: being morally good, keeping in the state of grace, going to Church at fixed times and receiving the Sacraments. Society fully supports this concept. Then what should we do? Remember the rich man in the gospel who told Jesus that he had kept all the commandments. Do I need to do more? He was told, let go of everything you have, share it with the poor and needy, and then come and follow me. What is the message here? Emptiness and share.

Have we heard that message yet? Have we, for instance, heard today's Second Reading? How do we treat different kinds of people in our society?

What are our attitudes to wealth and poverty? Which people do we regard as really rich and enriching? What kind of wealth are we in pursuit of? Are we totally free of discrimination in areas of sex, race, religion, class, occupation...? This will tell us if we have really heard the word of God?

We speak of an open mind, open enrollment, open arteries, the open man, open bowling, open bar, etc. The word "open" is at the entrances of hundreds of thousands of businesses. Yet all these openings mean nothing unless we have hearts open to the Lord. If you open your heart when Jesus says "Ephphatha!", He will open the gates of heaven when you say: "Ephphatha!"
