OCTOBER 21st, 2018 – TWENTY-NINTH SUNDAY IN ORDINARY TIME

Gospel of Mark 10. 35 -45.

James and John are looking for the best seat in the house. They want to sit next to Jesus, in his glory, one on his right and one on his left. That seat, however, is only for those for whom it has been prepared.

James and John sound a bit arrogant and self-seeking; interested in privilege, honor, and status. Maybe this type of interpretation and judgment is more about how we view the situation than about James and John? Maybe the other ten who are so upset also see it our way? Maybe, however, there is more to this story than the usual interpretation. Maybe there is another way to understand what is going on not only in this Gospel but with us.

Have you ever wanted to sit close to someone, of whom, you just cannot get enough? Those people in our lives that attract and draw us to them. Their presence changes who we are. They make us feel complete. They give us strength. They draw from us and show us the best part of who we are. In them we catch a glimpse of something holy, something meaningful, something energizing. We don't want to let this slip away. We want to be next to them not because of who we are but because of who they are. That is what Christ offers each one of us.

That is what James and John have experienced with Jesus. There are moments like that for us as well. They are the times when we absolutely get it. We know that we know. We have glimpsed the beauty, presence, and holiness of Christ in our own life. Everything about our life and the world now is different. Those are the moments we say, "Grant us to sit at your side, in your glory." Please Lord so we never lose sight of your majesty. It is not a plea for privilege and entitlement. It is the plea of one who never wants to lose that glimpse, who never wants the moment to end.

However then we are asked, if we are willing to drink the cup that Jesus drinks? To all this James and John say, "We are able."

The other ten do not get it. They are angry and indignant at James and John but it's not really about James and John either. They are angry and indignant with themselves, with their own inability to see and experience what James and John have seen and experienced. At a deeper level the anger and indignation of the ten are their own longing and desire for what James and John have glimpsed and asked for. They want to say, We are able too, There are times when the darkness is thick and the desperation is deep. Our world is turned upside down. It's easy in those times to be angry with and jealous of those who seem to get it. Why them? Why not us?

Jesus does not allow the ten to sit by themselves. He calls them. He permits no separation between the ten and James and John. Regardless of where they are on the journey, they are to walk the same path. They are all to be servants of one another and slaves of all. They now stand as one body of disciples. They walk one path. They follow one Lord.

We know James and John, and we know the ten. We have grown to love them and we can relate to them. So who are we? What is our life like today? Are we James and John or are we the ten? Yes. The answer is, "Yes." Both live within us. Our experience of one does not preclude an experience of the other. Don't forget James and John, the ones who got it, were also the ones who fell asleep at Gethsemane while Jesus prayed.

So it is with us, sometimes we catch the glimpse, other times we can only long to catch that glimpse. Both are a part of the journey. Both are expressions of faithfulness. Both are given the life of Christ. Both can become "those for whom it has been prepared."

"Let your steadfast love, Oh Lord, be upon us, even as we hope in you" Amen.

CWL NEWS - MUNICIPAL ELECTION

Vote for your Mayor, Councillor and Separate School Trustee. Their decisions affect our neighbourhoods and schools.
