It has been a long night for Simon. He has done everything a good fisherman is supposed to do, but the net is empty.

We can relate to the times we gave it our best, did all we could, said our prayers, lived faithfully, worked hard. Yet came up empty and we were left entangled in disappointment, doubt, sadness, grief, anger, fear and confusion.

We may experience this emptiness after the death of a loved one, or in a painful and disappointing marriage, or in the alienation from our loved ones or in the emptiness after retirement, and always in our shattered dreams and hopes.

Sometimes it seems there is nothing to do but to sit on the shore and wash our empty nets; nets that now serve only to remind us of what we did not catch, of what could have been. Simon protests, "Master, we have worked all night long but have caught nothing. Yet if you say so, I will let down the nets." Simon's initial protest turns to resignation. It is the resignation of one who has nowhere else to go, nothing else to do.

The antidote for empty nets is deep water. "Put out into the deep water and let down your nets for a catch," Jesus says.

But there is something about depth that is frightening. Deep water is risky. You cannot touch the bottom, cannot see the bottom or what might be down there. People drown in deep water. And that is the point. The deep is the place where we both drown and swim, and where we are buried with Christ and raised with Christ. It is where we experience the fullness of our baptism, the fullness of divine life.

Too often, however, we are content to stay in shallow water. It is safe, comfortable, and familiar. If it gets too scary, we just step out. But shallow water is the place of empty nets. The deep is exactly where we must go. It is what we need and it is what the world needs.

The world does not need smarter people, harder working people, or more beautiful people. The world needs deep people. People of depth who are willing to be transformed; people willing to go to the deep end, to get in over their head, to reach where they cannot see, to stand where they cannot touch bottom, to trust beyond their understanding and fear. The deep is the place where Jesus transforms us in His image.

The empty nets of Simon's life will be lowered into the depths of divinity and Simon Peter will bring up divine abundance, abundance that stretches his life to the limits. He is not, however, simply bringing up a great many fish. Simon Peter is bringing up the gifts of God for humanity— love, compassion, wisdom, mercy, forgiveness, peace, hope, healing, a vision for the future. The deep is always the place of sacred transformation, a place of new life and abundance. When Jesus took Simon deep water fishing, he did not say, "Let down your nets and see if there's anything here." He said, "Let down your nets for a catch." You see, in the deep water the catch is always guaranteed.

Give us the grace Lord to surrender to you and "Be not afraid"

MARRIAGE SUNDAY – FEBRUARY 12/13

February 13, 2022

To Married Couples throughout the Archdiocese of Toronto,

As we celebrate Marriage Sunday in the Archdiocese of Toronto, I wish to congratulate and thank married couples who strengthen our community through their daily witness of love, commitment and selflessness. Your ongoing "yes" provides hope and inspiration for the community, strengthened by God's grace and the love and prayers of family and friends.

We also extend our loving support to those who have lost a spouse or have experienced the pain and suffering of a broken relationship. If you are in need of assistance during these difficult days, I encourage you to seek out programs and resources in your own parish or throughout our diocese so that we may accompany you through the healing process.

To those assisting couples as they prepare for marriage and for those engaged in marriage enrichment programs or movements to support the sacrament of matrimony, be assured of my gratitude. Your ministry is essential in laying a foundation for healthy relationships and loving families, something so urgently needed in our world today.

A host of resources and additional information on Marriage Sunday can be found by visiting: www.archtoronto.org/marriage or feel free to connect with your own parish community.

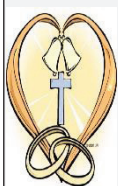

Thank you for all that you continue to do to value and enrich the sacrament of marriage in our homes and parishes, extending our love for one another to all those we encounter each and every day. May God continue to bless you now and always!

Sincerely in Christ,

Thomas Cardinal Collins

A PRAYER FOR MARRIED COUPLES

Dear Lord, I know that love is always patient and kind; love is never jealous; love is not boastful or conceited, it is never rude and never seeks its own advantage, it does not take offense or store up grievances. Love does not rejoice at wrongdoing but finds its joy in the truth. It is always ready to make allowances, to trust, to hope and to endure whatever comes. Fill our hearts and this marriage with love, Amen.
